New School Building At Manse.

The county board of education on last Saturday purchased of Mr. E. C. McWhorter for $350.00 a lot near Old Paint Lick church upon which will soon be erected a handsome new school building for the Manse district. This improvement is not done before it is needed for, the old school house is wholly unfit for school work. Some of our most progressive citizens live in this district and they have been working years, and knowing their interest in education, we look for a modern model school in operation in the district in a few months.

This is a move in the right direction and we congratulate the people of the Paint Lick district in their enterprising spirit to promote the welfare of their public school.

There are other districts in the county that could and should follow their example.

Advertising Pays.

The secret of the success of the Mail order houses, and the reason they are enabled to pay an annual dividend of 33 1/3 per cent is the liberal use of printers ink. Their goods are not better, and after counting the delivery charges, are no cheaper than the articles you will find at the counters of the home merchant, but they advertise their wares, not only with large catalogues, but through the columns of the magazines and newspapers.

Perhaps if the merchants who do the most complaining against these houses would devote a little less of their time to grumbling and a little more of their capital to advertising, they would be able to in a measure check this growing evil.

Set forth the virtues and prices of your wares through the medium of your home paper, let the people know that you have the same goods for the same money, and perhaps less than these people, and you will surely find in the long run that every dollar invested in advertising is a dollar well spent.

J. B. Walker Shocked By Lightning.

Mr. J. B. Walker had a very unique as well as dangerous experience this week. Few men there are who can boast of being struck by lightning, and live to tell the tale. Mr. Walker has gone through this illuminating experience, and is none the worse for it. Early Monday morning in the midst of the severe thunder and lightning storm he went to the barn with a colored boy to do the morning milking. A bolt from the blue, though it was black at the time, struck a tree in the yard of Mr. Neal Bennett's place adjoining, and ricochetted to Mr. Walker's barn. He was instantly stunned, and was carried into his house unconscious. Prompt medical aid averted any serious effects, and after a short space he fully recovered his strength and faculties. He fully agrees, however, with Prometheus of the ancient fable, that it is best to let the fire from heaven alone. His friends are delighted with his miraculous escape from death.—Richmond Register.

The above refers to Mr. James B. Walker, a brother of T. B. Walker of this place. Mr. Walker was more seriously injured than the above article would indicate, and while no serious results are apprehended, yet reports from his bedside are that he will be confined to his home for a couple of weeks.

Big Meeting.

The evangelistic services at the Methodist church every morning at 10 o'clock and every evening at 7:30 o'clock are being enjoyed immensely by the many people who attend. Evangelist, Patrick H. Davis is conducting the meeting and is a fine preacher. The singing is beautiful. Every one is invited to these meetings and much good will be done.

Amen Brother.

The Middlesboro News-Record roundly berates the newspaper correspondents of that city because of what it terms "the grossly exaggerated account in the daily newspapers of the recent cloud burst in that vicinity."

The Rec has been impounded by a number of people who have friends in Middlesboro, for a copy of the Middlesboro papers that they might read an account of the great calamity which had befallen that city as chronicled by the daily press. One message to the daily press reads as follows: "Middlesboro April 5 Damage estimated at over $1,000,000 was caused here last night by a cloud burst. Half of Middlesboro was under water. Coal mines were flooded."

This is but a sample of the alarming messages sent out. The facts as given by Middlesboro papers show the loss to have been but trifling as compared with what these reports would indicate, a few houses in the low lying district were a few inches under water, and there was some damage to wares from the rising waters, and a few families did have to remain up all night through fear, and the railroads and mines sustained some damage from the cloud burst, but nothing like what the reports would indicate. There is a tendency upon the part of "space writing" correspondents to distort every item they send to their papers, to build mountains out of mole hills. Middlesboro is not the only locality which has suffered from this evil. Down here in the blue grass every happening in some localities is grossly exaggerated before it reaches the daily press, every street brawl becomes an alarming occurrence, one or two citizens discussing some infraction of the law are distorted into a mob, and the least little occurrence, which ordinarily would never reach the daily press, is distorted and exaggerated in order that it may become an attractive news item, else we well know it would not be published.

This kind of newspaper notriety is detrimental to the community from which it is sent and is discouraged by all correspondents who place the proper value upon news items, who as the News-Reco d puts it "know a news item when they meet it in the big road". Neither is it encouraged by the daily press.

The daily papers instruct their correspondents to confine themselves strictly to the truth, but they of course have no means of knowing that some of their stuff is a fake when it is sent them. The correspondents themselves are solely to blame in the matter, many of them care little for the welfare of the community in general, or at least it would so appear from the character of stuff they send in. They lose sight of everything except how many inches it is going to make and how many dollars they are going to get out of their inventions.

A newspaper correspondent, one of the proper kind, sends to his papers only genuine news, and in as few words as possible, they are paid to send in the news, not to write editorials, if there is editorial comment to be made, their papers have a man who will attend to that. The correspondent should make sure of the authenticity of every article before sending it, be sure it is a news item, and above all things do not unnecessarily injure the character of any community or individual, rather than do this sacrifice an occasional article of minor importance, something that would be as well unsent, and in whose happening the world at large is but slightly interested, and whose sending would work an unnecessary hardship upon some unfortunate person. Better news items than you ever found are suppressed every day by great newspapers, for humanity's sake, and to save some one from useless notoriety.

Secretary of the Treasury, Franklin McVeagh, in an address before the Academy of Social and Political Science in Philadelphia bitterly censured the Civil war pension list. He said that while it was given rise to by a worthy motive, yet it had drifted into a political list, and had lost all vestige of patriotism.

Secretary McVeagh warmly advocates a system of pensioning old civil service employees of the government. He believes that the old men and women who have given the best part of their lives to the government, even if the service was of a peaceful rather than a military character should be cared for in their old days, as were the old soldiers who were more strenuous in their efforts.

Secretary McVeagh very wisely advocates the contributing system for their pensioning, which if he could only get the employees themselves to agree to it, would prove a solution of the problem.

H. H. Kohlsatt, a Chicago editor, when summoned before an investigating committee of the Illinois legislature, revealed the fact that a "slush fund" of $100,000 was raised to elect William E. Lorimer to the U. S. Senate from Illinois. His assertion seems to be incontrovertible, as he is supported by such men as Cyrus W. McCormick, president of the Harvester Trust and others.

In view of the recent facts brought to light in the matter, senator LaFollette has introduced a resolution in the U. S. Senate to have that body reopen the case, and in the event he is successful and Lorimer is again tried by that body, he will doubtless be ousted as the complexion of the senate has changed considerably since he was allowed to hold his seat by the 61st Congress.

General Stanley Williams, a Kentuckian whose home is thought to be in Louisville, was killed in a battle with Mexican Federal soldiers last Saturday. Williams led a forlorn hope, seventy men, most of them Americans, against the entire Mexican eighth brigade seven hundred men. The battle lasted seven hours, Williams little body of insurgents coming out with only twenty of their members, while the Mexican forces lost one hundred men. "Bunny" Durning, formerly a reporter on the Louisville Herald, was with Williams in his wild charge and was uninjured, and with the true instinct of a newspaper man wired the news of the battle to the Herald.

After Judge Sanford had decided several points in favor of the Coca Cola people in Nashville last week, the Government attorneys moved that the case be dismissed, which was done. The move for dismissal was made in order that the Government might take an appeal to the higher courts, and the matter will in all probability be now taken to the Federal Court of Appeals in Cincinnati. Upward of $200,000 has already been spent in the hearing of the case. The main contention of the Government is that the preparation contains caffeine.

Hon. Tom L. Johnson died at his home in Cleveland O. Tuesday night. Mr. Johnson has made a noble fight for life, sick over two years, the last few months of his life has been a hard battle for existence, his physicians giving him on several occasions only a few hours to live, but his indomitable courage and will power outwitted them.

Mr. Johnson was a spectacular figure in democratic politics, a single taxer and advocate of three cent street car fare in his native city of Cleveland, of which he was four times Mayor, he was also twice a Congressman from the 21st Ohio district.

In the mines of the Banner Colliery at Littleton near Birmingham Ala. 121 convicts were killed by black damp following a supposed powder explosion, there were about thirty of the number white, the remainder of them negroes. The accident was supposed to have been caused by a slight powder explosion setting fire to coal dust and producing the awful "black damp". At Troop Pa. three miles from Scranton, 76 men were killed by fire in a coal mine, the origin of the fire is unknown.

Six hundred delegates attended a meeting at Elizabethtown Saturday held by the good roads advocates from the counties along the old Louisville and Nashville turnpike. Committees were appointed and plans set on foot to put the old road on the basis of a modern highway. The one day plan seemed to prevail in sentiment, and it is probable that August 15th will be the day.

Hon. Ollie James will formerly open his campaign for the Democratic endorsement for the United States Senate at Nicholasville on April 17th. His opponent Senator Paynter, will be invited by Mr. James to be present on the occasion, and in the event of his attendance he will be accorded a division of time.

Carter H. Harrison Jr. was elected Mayor of Chicago last week for the fifth time, this time by a plurality of over seventeen thousand vot s. Harrison's father, Carter H. Harrison Sr. was a Kentuckian and was himself several times mayor of Chicago. He was assassinated by a crank named Prendergast.

A salesman and collector for Garrard Co. who can furnish horse and buggy on salry. Singer Sewing Machine Co. Incorporated Danville Ky. 4-14-21

Editor W. L. Moore of the Whitley Republican of Williamsburg with his wife and son are registered at the Ken-garlen. Mr. Moore has made an offer on one of the best two hundred acre farms in Garrard county, which will probably be accepted.

There is evidently more money in journalism in Whitley than in this country, and had lost all vestige of patriotism.

Secretary McVeagh warmly advocates a system of pensioning old civil service employees of the government. He believes that the old men and women who have given the best part of their lives to the government, even if the service was of a peaceful rather than a military character should be cared for in their old days, as were the old soldiers who were more strenuous in their efforts.

Suits Dismissed.

In the Franklin Circuit Court last week, Judge Walker presiding as special Judge, the cases of J. C. Cantrell against John C. Noel and J. C. Cantrell against the Kentucky Journal were dismissed, a demurrer having been sustained in the Noel case because the defendant in his answer said the alleged false and malicious statements about Cantrell were made in a judicial proceeding, and therefore he was not liable for the $50,000 damages claimed by Cantrell. In the case against the Kentucky Journal it is answered that it was simply publishing judicial proceedings, and therefore was not liable in damages, and its contention was upheld by the court.

Electric Line.

Mr. John M. Farra, of Lancaster who has done a great deal to bring his town and section into the prominence they deserve, was here yesterday to meet some of the officials of the new Kentucky Securities Company which is to take over all the street car and interurban lines in this section, in order to lay before them the advantage that would accrue both to the company and to the section which would be served by extending the interurban line from Nicholasville to Lancaster, and ultimately to Stanford and Danville.

The road is already completed to Nicholasville, and the distance from there to Lancaster is some twenty-two miles through a country as rich as any in the State. True the Kentucky river would have to be crossed, but those who have traveled the pike down the gentle incline to the river on this side will recall how easy other vehicles pass over it, while on the other side is a valley with moderate grade to Bryantville, thence along a comparatively level plateau to Lancaster.

The road will open up practically new territory filled up with thrifty people who are anxious for an outlet. En route from Nicholasville to Lancaster are a number of small towns. At Camp Nelson there is a large federal cemetery near which a town has sprung up, while at Camp Nelson on the river is one of the largest distilleries in the country. The latter has to rely entirely on the river for transportation of its output and immense amount of supplies necessary to run the establishment.

Then there are Bryantsville, Camp Dick Robinson and other smaller towns and villages.

At present, although Lancaster is but thirty-four miles from Lexington, it requires a railroad ride of ninety miles and many changes of trains to reach here, besides consuming more than three hours of time. It is really easier for the people of that thriving and progressive little city to go to Cincinnati to do their shopping which they would be glad to do here if they could.

In order to obtain the road Mr. Farra tells us that the people of Lancaster and Garrard county would contribute liberally to its construction. From what we know of the route and the people it would serve, we are sure that the Securities Company would find it profitable to investigate. It could be built cheaper than the line from Versailles to Frankfort and would open up just as desirable a section. It would undoubtedly be a great thing for Lexington, while proving of inestimable value to Lancaster as well as Stanford, which so far as reaching this part of the State, is in the same condition as Lancaster, besides proving a paying investment both in passenger and freight traffic.—W. P. Walton in Lexington Herald.

Carter H. Harrison Jr. was elected Mayor of Chicago last week for the fifth time, this time by a plurality of over seventeen thousand vot s. Harrison's father, Carter H. Harrison Sr. was a Kentuckian and was himself several times mayor of Chicago. He was assassinated by a crank named Prendergast.

Rev. F. M. Tinder will move to his recently purchased property, the Higginbotham home on Stanford Avenue, this week. Mr. John F. Holtzclaw will occupy the place made vacant by Mr. Tinder's change, having rented it for the remainder of the year.

Tobacco Season Closes.

Telegrams to the daily papers announce that the tobacco warehouse will close in Danville on April the 20th, for the present season.

The Danville warehouses have done a splendid business this season and Garrard county is in a measure responsible for it, having practically no market of their own and Danville being the nearest point, the business naturally went there. We hope that by the coming of another season we will be prepared to take care of all the tobacco raised in Garrard county on the home market.

DR. MINOR MISSING.

The wife of Dr. O. Raymond Minor, of Louisville, has asked the police of that city to endeavor to locate her husband, who she alleges has been missing for nearly two weeks. Mrs. Minor is seriously ill at her home on west Broadway, the result of a recent operation.

Mr. J. S. Minor, father of the missing man, refuses to discuss the matter further than to state that his son is away on business. Dr. Minor, is a brother of E. T. Minor, who formerly lived here, and the son of J. S. Minor who erected and formerly owned the Garrard Milling plant.

A Good Show.

Lancaster was treated to something this week which is a rarity with them, a real good circus. The "Mighty Haag Show" is the best attraction that has visited this place in a long time, and very justly attracted a large crowd.

A good crowd was out to see the show unloaded, which showed their keen anxiety to see a good show.

The street parade was exceptionally good and drew an immense crowd. Many comments were heard on their stock, it being above the average of even much larger aggregations.

There has been added recently to the list of animals with this show baby camel of the silver haired variety, the little fellow was born in Elizabethtown Ky. April 6th 1911, and is only a week old now. This is the only animal of this particular species ever born in captivity, and it naturally will attract a great deal of attention, not alone because of its rarity, but because of the fact that it is a native of Hindostan, one of the most superstitious countries in the world, whose people are reluctant to allow this species of

CONFESSED HER IGNORANCE.

Willie Radcliffe of Eighteenth street, near Oxford, went to school for the first time this week and his first impressions were not at all favorable to educational methods and the teachers. When he came home at noon his mother was full of questions and Willie was full of disgust.

"Well, boy, how did you like school?"

"Aw I didn't like it."

"Why, Willie, you must not say that. You have to learn if you ever wish to be a successful man."

"Well, that's just it. I can't learn anything in that school. The teacher don't know anything."

"What makes you say that? How do you know she doesn't?"

"Well, I know, all right, she gave herself away. She can't even spell little words. Why she had to ask me how to spell cat, when she wrote a sentence on the blackboard."—Philadelphia Times.

Herbert Brooks recently purchased the fine horse "Dignity Dare Jr.," of his brother L. W. Brooks price paid $451.00

The first sale of woolAS is reported from Paris, John T. Hedges sold his 1911 crop for 20 cents per pound.

W. Irving Arnold, of Woodford county, Ky., bought from E. A. Farra, of Jessamine county, Ky., 30 thoroughbred Southdown ewes with lambs for $375.

The Old Mason's Home have discontinued their dairy business at Shelbyville. At their dispersal sale last week their cows brought on an average $50. per head.

At the sale of T. B. Ripley, of Lawrenceburg, Ky., which was held recently, mules sold from $150 to $200 each. Mule teams brought from $312 to $450 per pair.

The Department of Agriculture is authority for the statement that Kentucky raised in the year 1910 381,024,000 pounds of tobacco, which was 38.7 per cent of the weed raised in the United States. This was the banner crop for Kentucky in so far as quantity but the quality was way below the average.

H. F. Hillenmeyer, the nurseryman, says the fruit crop in Central Kentucky was not hurt by the recent freeze and that the fruit prospects are thus far excellent. The fruit, however, Mr. Hillenmeyer says, is by no means safe yet, it being killed last year by a freeze on April 24. Mr. Hillenmeyer believes that the only fruit thus far injured are perhaps Janane plums.

Butter is a good price. Feed is comparatively cheap, especially so if you have saved all of your roughage, such as cornstalks, the best of your straw, and things of that sort which frequently go to waste. This being true, dairying should bring good returns this winter provided the cows are fed liberally enough to produce large quantities of milk.

Disorder of the digestive functions afflicts lambs most severely. White scour affects the unweaned lamb. This appears to be the passing of undigested milk. Change the ewe's feed, providing poorer hay with ground oats and corn with a sprinkling of linseed-meal.

If a cow has an apple or similar obstruction lodged in her throat, it can be removed by pouring a pint of melted lard down her throat. This will make the animal strangle and cough, and in the struggle the obstruction will be dislodged.

The common opinion that sheep should be kept as scavengers and that they will thrive best on the farm that is too poor for other kinds of live stock is twin brother to the opinion that white beans thrive best on a poor, thin soil.

Calves will begin to nibble at bright hay or grass by the end of the first two or three weeks, and some of them should be kept where they can reach it.

Cull out the worthless members of the flock and save your profits. Then be kind to the biddies and they will be kind to you in filling your egg basket.

One of the best preventives of scratches in horses is to keep the feet clean. If mud is permitted to dry on the fetlocks irritation is likely to ensue.

Oyster-shells ground fine are excellent for supplying lime. A pound of shells contains enough lime to thoroughly coat seven dozen eggs.

The pig, like every other young animal, loves to be alert and to be moving about with all the freedom which belongs to such a nature.

Sheep and lambs should not be allowed to run in the same pasture or the lambs will be in greater danger of becoming infected with disease.

The water-holding capacity of the soil is enormously increased by the presence of large quantities of decaying organic matter or humus.

Ducks prefer ground grain to whole grain except in cold weather, when a ration of whole grain soaked in warm water is desirable for them.

A nervous cow is preferable to a stolid one. The chances are that she will give more and better milk than her dull, morish sister.

It is a well-known fact that disease is more prevalent among hogs just after they are started on new corn than at any other time.

A moist soil then kept in an unfrozen condition as long as possible is the surest means to prevent winter killing of trees.

A sheep that has once been chased by dogs becomes suspicious at the sight of a dog or any noise that may suggest one.

Nowadays farmers are alive to the fact that it requires strong horses to perform efficient work on the farm.

A stumbling horse is dangerous, and is usually made so by bad shoeing. Go to an intelligent, expert shoer.

Any good collar in which an even temperature of 40 degrees can be maintained will do for bees.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure in the treatment of your flock of laying hens.

As foaling time approaches, the mare needs the best of care and the most careful feeding.

Samuel Birch, of Beeton Wis., had a most narrow escape from losing his leg, as a doctor could heal the frightful sore that developed, but at last Bucklin's Arnica Salve cured it completely. Its greatest healer of ulcers, burns, boils, eczema, scabs, cuts, corns, cold-sores, bruises and piles on earth. Try it 25c, at R. E. McRoberts & Son.
